

All the world's a platter

FOOD Pizza Hut has launched a new World Food Fest promotion

Do you want to sample a little bit of Lebanon, China, Mexico, Russia and many more countries on a pizza? Well, it is possible now at Pizza Hut which has launched a new promotion called the World Food Fest.

The fest features an all-new menu created by Pizza Hut's in-house chefs. The specialities from around the world include the likes of Mexican tortillas, Russian apple salad and Arabic chicken pizza, and what the fast food chain says is a specialty the all American sundae.

Other items that you can try are Arabic Chicken Sandwich (pita bread sandwich with Lebanese chicken served with cheese dip and salad mix), Chicken 'n' Cheese Tortillas (tortillas topped with Fajita chicken, cheese & tangy salad served with cheese dip), Tangy Apple Salad (red apples and fresh salad leaves tossed in egg-less mayonnaise and lemon juice).

Also try pasta in Chicken Stroganoff Sauce, (pasta tossed in creamy Russian sauce with smoked chicken, mushrooms & capsicum. Served with garlic bread), paneer El Rancho Pizza (Mexican specialty Cajun spiced paneer, black olives, corn, capsicum, onion and cheese), Chilly Chicken Pizza (Chinese chilly chicken, capsicum, onion, green chillies and cheese), Almond Praline (a scoop of almond and caramel ice-cream served with a cookie) and Iced Green Apple Cooler (refreshing green apple bubbly drink flavoured with lemon).

During the celebration the restaurants will host live performances by singers who will sing the guests' favourite international songs on request.

There will also be entertainment options such as Wait Busters which will engage customers with brain-teasers
